TOWN REPORT

Refects found	16

GLADYS BLASLAND, R. N.

Field Nurse.

To the Citizens of Colebrook:

During the year 1929 we had several cases of Scarlatina but other than these the community has been free from contagious diseases except Chicken-pox which is not a quarantinable disease in this state.

Following the flood we were fearful lest Typhoid or some other infectious disease might infest our community on account of the mud and debris in several of the cellars but we were unable to attribute any disease to this disaster.

A great many sewers that terminated in the Mohawk have been changed to the town sewers and the remainder would have except for the extra expense of repairing after the flood.

Practically all of the parents or guardians have co-operated with the board of health and school nurse to uphold the vaccination law, which goes to prove that people in general are becoming more enlightened each year regarding general health problems.

WALTER F. NOYES, M. D.

Board of Health.
